A Farmer's Bong.

We cayy not the printely turn, In city or in town,
Who knows not whether pumpkin vines
Run up the bill or down; We care not for his marble halis,
Nor yet his heaps of gold,
We would not own his sordid heart,
For all his wealth thrice told,

We are the favored ones of earth, We breathe pure air each morn,
We sow—we resp the golden grain—
We gather in the coru;
We toll—we live on what we care, And more than this we do-We hear of starving millions round, And gladly feed them too.

Yet drage a weary life, lie never knows a perceful hour-The merchant thumbs his yard-allek o'er-Grows haggard at his toll, Why don't he till the soil?

The lawyer lives on priocely fece,

The dector plods through sterm and cold,
Plods at his patient's will,
When dead and gone he plods again
To get his lengthy bill. The printer (blera bie noble soul) He grasps the mighty earth; And stamps it on our welcome sheet, To cheer the farmer's hearth,

No sing the honor of the plough, And honor of the press-Two noble instruments of toil, With such a power to bless, The bone, the nerve of this fast ege, True wealth of human klad- .. One tills the over generous earth, The other tills the mind.

LECTURE BY ELUIO BURRETT.

In recording the fectors of Eliku Burritt is sur last, we promised to give a more extended notice this week. To give on thing like an adequate idea, however, of the intellectual treat Mr. Burritt provided for his heater would occupy more space than our limits will afford. We therefore confine ourselves to brief outline, leaving our readers to fill up the sketch for themselves. Mr. Burritt glanced at the position in which

Doings at Quebec. As will be seen by reference to the Parliamentary reports, abridged from the Toronto Globe, which appears elsewhere today, under date of March 8th, the Upper Canade portion of the Ministry received a nonconfident vote from this section of the country, and the Government as a whole were only sustained by their own votes. The question was

On tooking over the names of the gen-Hernes effected to examine the public accounts, Mr Poby discovered it was of such a complexico's to sllow the Ministry to do just as they pleased, and he accordingly moved the addition of the name of Hon, Geo, Brown. Afraid of having their accounts thoroughly investigated - feoring, instead of courting, the fullest enquiry, although the Inspector tieneral himself was named upon that Committee to audit his own accounts, and although Ex-Inspector Caylor, also, a firm and ruffinching supporter of Cartier & Co., is a member; yet, they were arraid to entrust Mr Brown with the power to compel them to make full and complete disclosures of the way our finances had been managed the past year. As will be seen by the debate, so far as the discussion went, the Government were completely beaten; but on the rote they had a majority in the whole house of secret : this was very different to 20 and 30 pa test questions last Session. Sin, -1 must sincerely thank a "Grammar School Teacher " for his communication under the head, Qualifications of Trackers, exhibiting the views of the Board of exuminers, or, at least, a portion of theirs, and the feelings by which they are ectuated lowards native-born Canadiane; and proving, sa it clearly does, the impropriety of selecting parties from the antiquated system of education in Europe to control the educational interests of Canada. Your correspondent may flatter himself, that by speaking contemptuously of native-born Canadians, he will augment their respect for Europeans but I am of the opinion that he will find himself mistakem And, although he muy snear at the importance and dignity of "young Canada," so he so insultingly does, I trust that the rising COME; but somewhat disingeniously suppressdignity as to prevent them from sueing for favors from even so expited a person as a " Grain-

Important fonctions devolving upon them, Now, sir, allow mo to ask the "Gramma School Trustee," to inform me as to his method of ascertaining the physical capabilities of the applicants. Has the Board in professor of an atomy, or is it done by physiology, phrenology, or how is it done? Are the young ladies, who occasionally present themselves for examination, subject to a critical examination as to their physical powers of performing all the ne cessary functions 1-and are they included the specing epithet-" Young Canada ?" I quite agree with your correspondent that he duties of the Board are very important, and hence the necessity of their being faithfully and impartially performed. But, etr, if the attainments of students are to be judged of by the cosual odvantages of the amount of hair on their faces; and to be sacoringly faunted as young Canada by those whose, care should be to encourage them to persevere in their studies, I fear that past conduct, so far from proving Canada, will prove the teverse.

I am the more anxious to learn the method adopted by the Boatd of ascertaining the physical powers of applicants, because I see many persons holding Certificates of Qualification, granted by said Board, whom natura has refused some important portion of their frame,for instance, a leg, an arm, and to some the use of both; but I suppose that if they only have the necessary quantity of hair on their faces, their physical powers will not be doubted. This, sir, may be the method of ascertaining the physical capacities of candidates in Europe, but I must protest, against its adaption hero. I have faith to believe that " Young Canada," -as a "Grammar School Trustea" so definitely calls the rising generation, will yet be uble to do comething more than a hairy face in proof of their physical capabilities. The o'Traslea" has not toucked the idea I endeavoured to advance in my communication to which he Administration, and shortly after return and has endeavoured to reply, thereby taking upon himself a position which belonged to others. i.e. that each candidate should be examined impartially, and judged according to his attainments, and not by his ago and growth of hair. I do hope, sir, that the members of the Board will endeavour to east aside their old fogy notions, brought with them from countries where it is a universal opinion, that every boy must corve coven years as an apprentice to learn the rade of even a chimney sweep; and that they will be able to ascertain the fact perceptible to every candid mind, that with the educational year. capabilities which we now possess, there is no necessity for persons spending twenty or even sixteen years to obtain an education superior to old fogies or their fathers at double or even three times that age.

> of the members, although stating their ages to be respectively eixteen years, in fact had the appearance of being much younger,31 as if doubting their word and judging by their aphow did they accertain the statement made to be incorrect, and in consequence exclude them from the examination, which appears to me very much like the gratification of a caa standard of physical qualifications, and lay aside the standard of mental attainments, in order to become a Common School teacher ?or, leaving the physical qualifications out of the question, determine the matter by the quantity of hair ? It seems to mo to be more diffic for a candidate to come up to the requirement > of both age and hair, than to attain an excellent position in the literary world. A LOVER OF IMPARTIALITY. March 12th, 1860.
